Expand Your Operations in Vietnam

In recent years, Vietnam has developed rapidly and become the world's second largest exporters after mainland China with the surging production growth. Vietnam has attracted many foreign manufacturing industries as well as Original Equipment Manufacturers (OEM) to set up factories in the region. Under the Vietnamese government's vigorous promotion of industrial preferential policies and favorable trade agreements, Vietnam's political and social environment has been stabilized, a young and cost-effective labor market has been established while the technology and industrial chain has become more mature. It creates the triple competitive advantages of human resources, cost and technology that brings new business opportunity for Hong Kong manufacturers.

Hong Kong Productivity Council (HKPC) will organize a series of seminars with the aim to offering information and useful tips on setting up manufacturing operation in ASEAN countries. This seminar will focus on Vietnam, all-rounded deconstructing the business opportunities of setting up factories in Vietnam, and analyzing the local investment environment and development prospects.
